According to the nurture assumption, socialization is something that parents do to children. Socialization researchers study how the parents do it and how well they do it, as judged by how well the children turn out. Socialization researchers believe in the nurture assumption. As I /5(6). The book aims to debunk the 'Nurture Assumption', which claims that how children turn out in life depends strongly on their home environment/5. Judith Rich Harris has a message that will change parents' lives: The "nurture assumption" -- the belief that what makes children turn out the way they do, aside from their genes, is the way their parents bring them up -- is nothing more than a cultural myth.4/5(6). The nurture assumption: why children turn out the way they do. The Nurture Assumption: Why Children Turn Out the Way They Do (2 Cassettes) by Judith Rich Harris, Paula Parker A psychologist explodes the myth of parental influence by revealing the power of peers -- who play a far more critical role than parents do in the development of children.
